BENNETT VERSUS BRYAN

The Latter Will Remain Executor of the Former's Estate Unless a Higher Court Decides to the Contrary

New Haven, Conn., April 15.—A decision pending in effect the application for the removal of William J. Bryan as executor of the estate of the late Philip S. Bennett was rendered Saturday by Judge Cheever in the probate court.

The application was brought by counsel for Mrs. Grace Imogene Bennett, the widow, and other party interested on the ground that Mr. Bryan was acting contrary to the interests of the estate.

The decision sustains a demurrer filed by Mr. Bryan's counsel and practically denies the application so far as the probate court is concerned. The matter will now go to the higher court on appeal.

ANNOUNCEMENT

At the solicitations of our many satisfied friends with our services in the past, we have decided to become a candidate for the office of Purveyor in Chief to the family trade of this and adjoining counties, and request the support of all democrats and republicans before and after the primaries.

Respectfully Submitted,

THE SENATE AND CRUM

It begins to look as if the Senate does not want to pass the case of Dr.
Crum, who, more than a year ago, was nominated collector of the port of Charleston. The President has nominated him twice, and yet the Senate has failed to act on his nomination.
Senator Tillman has secured a promise that the case will not be taken up in his absence, and as it is hardly probable that he will get back to the Senate this session, the Crum nomination will hardly come up for consideration before next December. And it will not be acted on then unless the President sends it to the Senate again, as it will lapse with the expiration of this session.

No doubt, however, the President will send it to the Senate again, much as that body would like him to drop it.
Of course, if the Senate had rejected the nomination with favor it would have acted on it long ago, but it doesn't want to do so, so it lets it be hung up from one session to another.

That the confirmation of the nomination has been held off so long indicates that Senator Tillman has a good deal of influence in the Senate, notwithstanding the fact that it is so strongly republican. It would be a great triumph for him if he were to succeed in preventing altogether the confirmation of the nomination. It will probably be a good while before Mr.
Roosevelt sends another nomination to the Senate which he has reason to believe is not acceptable to the people most directly interested in it. The wiser plan for a president to pursue in making appointments is to consult the wishes of the people of the community in which the office to which the nomination is made is located. A few days ago Senator Hear said, in a speech in the Senate, that the president in making appointments in the South should consult the Southern senators and representatives, and Senator Bacon discussed the matter at considerable length in a speech in that body. It is hardly probable, however, that President Roosevelt will depart from his present policy in making appointments in the South, namely, the policy of consulting only republicans.

The South won't get the kind of federal officers she wants until a democrat is elected president. Savannah Monday News.

SAVES TWO FROM DEATH

Your little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and feverishness," writes Mrs. W. K. Hav-land of Amherst, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery, and now, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine, and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as surely as the morning sun rises. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, Sore and Hoarse Throat, and all the ailments of the throat and lungs.
Bottle free.

SMITH FOUND GUILTY

At Madison of the Murder of Jere Mc-Clellan

Madison, Fla., April 15.—O. P. Smith was tried for the murder of Jere Mc-Clellan, over a year ago, and the jury brought in a verdict yesterday morning after being out all night, of guilty of murder in the first degree, with a recommendation to mercy, which, under the law of this state, reduces the penalty from death to imprisonment for life.

A motion for a new trial is pending, and if one is refused the case will go to the supreme court.

AFTER FORTY YEARS

The Mississippi River Again Runs in Its Ante-Bellum Channel

Vicksburg, Miss., April 17.—With a roar that was heard for miles, the Mississippi river last night, cut through Kilpatrick Island in Davis bend, restored Davis Island to the Mississippi mainland and resumed its old channel through what for forty years had been known as Lake Palmyra. Incidentally several valuable cotton plantations were practically ruined.

The neck of land through which the Mississippi river cut to regain possession of its former channel was about 500 yards wide. Davis bend is twenty miles south of the city.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Large Congregations and Eloquent Sermons Yesterday

The attendance at the Baptist church Sunday morning was large. The main audience room was filled, while the annex was about half filled, all eager to hear the great preacher, Dr. Wharton.
For his lesson he read the 31st Psalm, a great favorite with all preachers and humble followers of the cross. He commented most lucidly as he read, dwelling particularly on the 11th verse, relating in connection Dr. D. L.
Moody's experience in crossing the ocean when the power of the vessel failed, and she lay on her side in the trough of the sea, waiting for the waves to cover it and send all on board to the bottom. The captain told them that death confronted them. Then it was that Dr. Moody's heart was sad because he desired to see his family again and to continue his work at Northfield. But it was for only a moment, then he dropped to his knees and appealed to God for protection.
The Comforter came. Dr. Moody threw himself on his bunk and slept like a child, and when he awoke the danger was over.

Mrs. Will Goin and Miss Sara Whitfield then sang a duet most beautifully, which certainly touched many calloused hearts.

Dr. Wharton took for his text I Peter 3:15, and from it discoursed most effectively on the Christian's hope, and demonstrated that trust, confidence and belief in God, and following in the footsteps of Jesus Christ, were the true essentials. He said that the desires of the mind did not bring everlasting happiness, wealth did not satisfy, fame was alluring, fashion a delusion. Then, Christ was all in all to everyone who accepted him. Of Byron, the literary genius and great poet, at 18 years famous, was, at 36, a physical wreck, steeped in the pleasures and delusions of life. The world cannot give you the peace that passeth all understanding. He spoke of John G. Woolly, the mighty temperance orator, who sunk his manhood in drink. How, after vain struggles and unceasing efforts of friends and woman's devotion—the moral of the ages—he ran up against the Lord, who preserved him to be an benefactor to the world and a savior of men. The same with Newsum Hall's father, one of the really great power orators of England. He had gone from reason and sobriety to the brink of perdition, God's hand touched him, Christ's blood atoned for his manifold sins, made a man of him, and he lived to bless the world by giving three of the strongest books, telling of the Bible and Christ as the Savior of men.
Speaking of a woman's love for a man of her choice, marrying him to reform him was the greatest mistake in life.
Reform should come first. He closed by calling on all who did not belong to any church but wanted Christ, to come forward and give him their hands.
There was an awkward pause, then a little girl came out, others followed until all the aisles leading to him were blocked.

The Afternoon Service

Was wholly for men, and the main building was filled. Prof. Pike played the organ. Dr. Wharton read the 5th chapter of Daniel, and took for his text the handwriting on the wall, and Daniel's interpretation of it: weighed in the balance and found wanting; death at a dinner, the portrayal of Belshaz-zar's feast, and how the disobedience of God's word brought death, and its obedience, life. He spoke of Babylon as the most remarkable city of the world.
Its size was fifteen miles square, surrounded by a wall 27 feet high and 30 feet wide at the top, on which chariots could be driven abreast and through which the Euphrates river flowed. Everything built by man, they would destroy the enemy without. But while the Babylonians deemed themselves safe and derided their enemies without, the Persians were digging a canal thirty miles long to divert the waters of the Euphrates, Belshazzar was feasting and living within, and without a moment's warning the Persians marched into the city on the bed of the diverted river, fell upon the feasters, and slew the king and his followers. He told several amusing incidents to adorn the story of Christ's gospel, and several very thrilling and touching ones. Of the former was the reply made by one of John B. Gordon's soldiers, while being led from the battlefield and on being asked why he was running, said "Because I was a coward."
